SYMPTOMS.

The symptoms of Catarrh as they generally appear are at first very slight. Persons find they have a cold, that they have frequeut attacks, and are more sensitive to the changes of temperature. In this condition, the nose may be dry, or a slight discharge, thin an acrid, afterward becoming thick and Richmond, - - Indiana. adhesive. As the disease becomes chronic. the discharges are increased in quantity and changed in quality; they are now thick and heavy, and are hawked and coughed off. The secretions are offensive, causing a bad breath; the voice is thick and nasal; the eves are weak; the sense of smell is lessened or destroyed; deafness frequently takes place. Another important and common symptom of Catarrh is, that the person is obliged to clear his throat in the morning of a thick and slimy mucous, which has fallen down from the head during the night. When this takes place, the person may be sure that his disease is on its way to the lungs, and should lose no time in arresting it. A Single Bottle will last a Month--to be used three times a day.
